

BOOKS AND BEYOND -AN INTERACTIVE SESSION WITH MS. RADHIKA R. DHARIWAL

"The more that you read, the more things you will know. The more that you learn, the more places you'll go." The world of books is the most remarkable creation of man. Nothing else that he builds lasts forever. Monuments fall, nations perish, civilizations grow old and die out; and after an era of darkness, new races build others. But the world of books is a volume that has seen this happen again and again, and yet lives on, to tell this tale. In its relentless quest to endorse the habit of reading and to inculcate in the students an undying love for writing, our school, on 2 September 2014, organized an interactive session with the celebrated author Radhika R. Dhariwal, who has penned down her debut book 'The Pet Post Secret'. The session witnessed an intellectual exchange of ideas and thoughts, where the students got the opportunity to learn about and gain an insight into the nuances of writing and effective reading. She gave away tips and tricks on writing effectively and how to break through a writer's block. Students got an opportunity to ask her their questions and share with her their creative work which was appreciated and applauded by the author. The session left the students enchanted, introspecting and yearning for more.

A rendezvous with Radhika Dhariwal.

VIDEO CONFERENCE SESSION WITH HOPETOWN GIRLS' SCHOOL

Our school has always been active in enhancing interaction among students, both at the international as well as the domestic level. Another step in this authentic practice was taken when a Video Conference was organised for students of class VIII through Skype chat. The session was held on 24 November 2015 with Ms Ratna Kalra, teaching in Hopetown Girls' School, Dehradun, India and her students. Being the beginning of a new collaboration, a team of 10 students of both the schools indulged in self introduction and healthy discussions on various activities held in their respective schools, with greater emphasis on environment related activities. They discussed about the examination system followed by the two schools, and the differences in the methodology of teaching. The students participated enthusiastically in this interactive event and look forward to having more such sessions which will strengthen the bonds between the two schools.

"Learning is more effective when it is an active rather than passive process."
~Kurt Lewis

Our little dearies of class Seedling witnessed an enchanting dramatization of their fantasy world through a recently conducted puppet show. This program which was based on the favourite tell-tales of children instantly struck a chord with the young ones. Their cognitive and imaginative minds were left enthralled. The children enjoyed the show and related to the stories instantly. This yet again proved that 'Prioritise the fun and learning will come!'

ANTI FIRE-CRACKER RALLY

Community outreach programmes have been a special agenda for Kesholoy, the Eco Club of our school. Keeping this in mind, Class VIII students and teacher-in-charges of Kesholoy took out a rally on 20 October 2014. The students assembled in the school courtyard, carrying their thought provoking posters urging all to celebrate a GREEN DIWALI. Starting from the school premises, the students went to the nearby residential areas of Paschim Vihar. The excitement and enthusiasm among the students was evident as they kept walking and shouting 'Green Diwali' slogans. The residents and onlookers appreciated the efforts made by the young students for the campaign. On returning to the school, the students marched through the school corridors, spreading awareness about the negative effects of fire crackers among fellow students through slogans. It was a small but significant effort made by Kesholoy to help keep the menace of air and noise pollution under control this Diwali.

When you can see blue, green, red and yellow flags standing tall and dancing to the rhythm of the wind in the school ground, when all the students are beaming with pride covered in their house colours, it becomes evident that the Sports Day is nearing. Inter- house competitions such as Sports Day aren't just activities or events for our students, for them it is about guarding their honour in the sternest way possible. Every match invites the same amount of enthusiasm from the students. The participants as well as the non-participants are equally engrossed in the matches. Everyone considers themselves as players irrespective of who's in the court and who's not.
